"By the time COVID-19 is over I am 18 years old now." So how is an ideal day for an 18 year old. Let's see!

A bright morning sun with birds chirping in the background, your body could feel the freedom you are going to experience. ~~You~~ I woke up in my bed thinking of a delicious breakfast and the all the same expectation. What would be more pleasing.

I had list and list of things to do. Beginning with a peaceful time with my dog around the park. It was a point where you do not have to social distance, I met all my friends and family.

Starting with friends, what would be more satisfying than meeting your good old bestie after years. Over millions things to talk and could go more.

After the refreshing and loveable time with them, I went to meet my favorite cousins. Also my family was always close to each other in the pandemic but still I had so much to talk to. I found how everything was going as expectation.

Then, I planned having fun with my cousins and friends together. I was with total 20 lovely people so I planned to go in a concert.

This concert which we all loved, this concert which riched all our tastes, yes a concert of our favorite band, BTS. Time flew over few minutes. After an hour of fanchanting my got sore and was unwell for a longer period. Any way after that we went on a picnic.

It was near the himalayas and over the hills. We could touch the clouds and could see through them. A warm cup of coffee with a distict flavour on the cup I took a sip which calmed me in seconds. The laughter I could hear from the person I loved and cared would mean not less than ~~the~~ watching Netflix in the sofa and enjoying alone.

A day with the one you loved would go awesome right? How you could feel everyone around you ~~would~~ and you being loved ~~or~~ would be the best feeling ever. Just how the pandemic made you apart, just a day could make all up. 😊
